The game takes place in the Comet Empire, which used to be a part of the now vanished Kinshi Empire. A galactic war between the Comet Empire, the Karuba Empire, the Spacetime Emperor, and the Comet Alliance had threatened to destroy the B-series empires (who were also known as the Space Empires) and had been widely anticipated. As fate would have it, the Comet Alliance managed to destroy the entire B-series empire in a last-ditch effort to avoid total destruction. But while war was averted, peace came with it. The Kinshi Empire was reformed to become the new Comet Empire, which was under the rule of the Great Comet, Maria Kuroki. In addition, the Karuba Empire was reformed as the Karuba Empire, and the Spacetime Emperor was reformed as the Spacetime Emperor, along with their pre-war allies, the Comet Alliance. This peace was short lived, however, as the Karuba Empire was once again growing unstable under the rule of the usurper Yoshua Genoh. The Spacetime Emperor was also in turmoil, as they had lost contact with the Comet Alliance and the Karuba Empire, due to their invasion of the Comet Empire. While the Karuba Empire would soon fall to their own unstable rulers, the Spacetime Emperor would soon be able to see their enemy once again, as they were moving their plotters in to effect an invasion of the Comet Empire. With the Comet Alliance now sitting on the territory of the Comet Empire, they needed to act fast, as time was of the essence. Despite the Comet Empire's previous fight with the Comet Alliance, this was no longer the same war, as the Comet Empire had recently gained their own alliances, the Bomberman Jettters. Bomberman Jettters was a group of three female Bomberman players who embarked on a mission to help the Space Empires, and the Comet Alliance reclaim their territory, all while defending the planet from an invasion by the Karuba Empire. The Jettters would help defend the territories they conquered, while also establishing new territories in the process, and would be helped in their mission by various characters and allies. Contents Synopsis "Those who want to fight, will fight. Those who want to surrender, will surrender. But, those who wish for a war to be averted, will avoid fighting, and will surrender." The Comet Empire was in a civil war that had lasted for years,
